Bloomington Chamber Singers receive grant from Smithville Charitable Foundation

Bloomington, Ind. – The board of the Bloomington Chamber Singers (BCS) has announced receipt of a grant from the Smithville Charitable Foundation to support its performance activities in the Bloomington community. The $3,900 grant enabled the group to purchase an acoustic concert shell.

Board president Paul Pisano noted that the shell is an essential part of a choral concert. "Because of this grant the audience experience at our concerts will be substantially enhanced," he said. "We are deeply grateful to the Smithville Charitable Foundation for their continuing long-term support of our efforts to serve our community through the performing arts," he added.

Founded in 1970, BCS is a community chorus of volunteer singers that performs a full schedule of concerts each season. For more information visit their website at chambersingers.info.
